Dear Customer

Thank you for your interest in Impressions.

Unlike many other software companies, Impressions was not created just to make money. Impressions was set up by a group of committed game players, as a hobby. Like so many people, years ago we were all disappointed by so many of the games that we had bought, that we thought we could do better. I had spent years as a game reviewer, and my fellow founders include game designers, programmers and graphic artists. As you can probably guess - we did have a go, and have been growing rapidly ever since. Impressions ceased to be a hobby some years ago now - but the philosophy behind us has not changed: we want to have fun, and to create games which you will enjoy. It may seem dumb to say that we aim to put the fun back into computer games - but that is exactly what we aim to do. So many games still lack that essential ingredient - we hope to put it back!

We also specialise in one type of game - strategy games. Strategy games used to be dull-looking affairs with little or no sound, terrible graphics, and very complex control systems. We have tried to change that - with exciting graphics and sound effects, stirring soundtracks, simple to use control systems - and often real time gameplay! We also try to keep up with the latest technology, using it when it adds to our games, not just for the sake of it.

I hope that you like our aims - and our games. If not please tell us. We are the first to say that we are far from perfect. But we are trying! Help us to help you enjoy your computer!

FEATURES

28 modern Middle East scenarios.

Wide variety of modern planes and missiles.

Satellite, radar & geographical maps.

Great new combination of strategic command & resource management.

256 color VGA graphics.

Easy to use point 'n' click interface.

Expandable game system.

Absorbing real time gameplay.

You are the Air Force Commander in this strategy simulation of air warfare. You must deploy your squadrons at the right base, then give each squadron combat missions - setting up defensive patrols of your bases and cities, and missions to take out the enemy's offensive capability. As well as Falcons, Tornados and other planes, you also have attack helicopters and missiles (offensive and defensive) at your disposal. Your objective - air supremacy.

Air Force Commander is a great, new type of simulation - but Air Force Commander is far more than just a game; it is an expandable system - and is supplied with a Middle East War Module - with 28 scenarios including the Persian Gulf War, the Iran/Iraq War, and the 1973 Yom Kippur War. A second War Module covering World War 2 will be available separately.

Air Bucks is your chance to build an airline - it won't be easy, but if you make it the rewards are huge! Start with $100,000 and a DC3 in 1946, at the start of the air travel boom. Decide which places to fly to, where to use as a hub, when to buy new planes and which ones to buy. New planes become available over time, from a DC9 to Boeing's 747! But beware - just because a plane is new does not mean it is right for you. You must also find the cash to pay for it; and planes don't come cheap! You are sure to need the help of your friendly bank sooner or later, or even to sell stock!

Simple to play

Your chance to win Japan!!

Your Chance to get your own back! Conquest of Japan gives you five cities, each with money to hire armies - it is up to you to buy the right soldiers, and direct your armies to conquer Honshu, Japan's main island! In a truly epic production, you are both the general, planning campaigns, and the army commander, directing troops within each battle. All battles are played out in real time, with your soldiers moving into formation in fantastic, colourful animation!

You can become as involved as you like - from watching progress, to instructing individual men if you wish to!

You can even choose to play each battle in Hi Res (386/25 machines or better recommended) or faster Low Res.

This much-requested sequel to Omnitrend's hugely popular Paladin, is a great new fantasy role playing combat game! Pit your small band of adventurers in numerous quests against trolls, dragons, and many other fiendish foes. The game features an updated version of Omnitrend's acclaimed point 'n' click interface, not to mention stunning graphics and atmospheric music & sound effects. The game comes with 20 quests, and a Quest Builder to allow you to construct more for yourself. A Quest Disk will be available with a further 20 quests to play and enjoy.

You should have no problem finding Impressions' latest releases in software stores across the country. However, if you are having difficulty finding our products, you can special order our current titles by check or money order.
