

ULTIMA® VI

C-64 CLUEBOOK UPDATE

This sheet describes all of the differences between the IBM version of Ultima VI: The False Prophet and the version released for the Commodore 64. Unless specified below, all hints and solutions in the Ultima VI cluebook, The Book of Prophecy, apply to both versions of the game.

NOTE: All paragraph references below refer to whole paragraphs only.

Page 5

Of the items marked on the "Key to Town Maps," the following do not exist in the Commodore version of Ultima VI: Fence, Trellis, Lamp Post, Guillotine, Water Wheel, Logs.

Page 7, paragraph 4

The triple crossbow mentioned by Mandrake doesn't exist, so Gwenneth won't know anything about it.

Page 25

The following items marked on the "Caves and Dungeons Map Key" do not exist: Cage, Guillotine, Lamp Post, Logs.

SUTEK'S CASTLE GROUND LEVEL

NOTE: No map of the ground level of Sutek's Castle was provided in the cluebook. This map appears to the left.

Page 30

On the map of Level 1 of Covetous/Wrong, the three switches indicated below are invisible. They can be used, but you can't see them. Look carefully where the map says they should be and you will find them.

The magic staff mentioned by Taynith does not exist.

Page 35

Ignore Taynith's comments – the Vanish and Reappear spells do not exist.

Page 44

The webs closest to the center of the Spider Cave, Level 1 map do not exist.

The maps of Level 4 of Stonegate's Basement show the location of an invisible switch. This switch can be used, but it can't be seen. The map is accurate, but you will have to look carefully to find the switch.
